Latest Sugar Quotations.

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—Sugar, 96% test, 4.255 cents; 88 Analysis beets, 118 1/2d.

Japan Confident of Success.

Tokio, Sept. 26.—Confidence in the outcome of the war remains unshaken. Hopes of early peace are dissipated.

New Russian Railway.

Irkutsk, Russia, Sept. 26.—The Cherkum-Bakal Railway in Siberia has been opened.

The Pope's Troubles in France.

Rome, Sept. 26.—The Vatican has opened negotiations for a rapprochement with France.

[The ecclesiastical troubles in France are critical. Some dozen bishops of the French Catholic Church have been excommunicated by the Pope for Church irregularities and scandal in their private lives. The French ministry protested and the power of the Church in matters of government have been threatened.]

Preparations for Long Contest.

London, Sept. 26.—Russia will soon have 700,000 men in the field. It is believed that Grand Duke Nicholas will be made Commander-in-Chief.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 26.—A second Manchurian army has been organized with General Grippenberg in command. Three hundred thousand men will arrive at the front by the middle of October. General Kuropatkin retains command of the army.

Japs Stop British Cruiser Crusader.

Kobe, Sept. 24.—The Japanese have stopped the British cruiser Crusader in Tsugaru straits and sent her to Hakodate.

[Hakodate is the principal seaport of Yezo, the northern division of Japan, which is separated from the large island of Honshu by the Tsugaru straits. Presumably the British cruiser has been suspected of carrying contraband goods.]

United States Will Hold Lena.

Vallejo, Cal., Sept. 20.—The Russian auxiliary cruiser Lena has been dismantled.

Washington, Sept. 21.—One hundred and fifty marines have been ordered to protect the Russian auxiliary cruiser Lena, dismantled at Mare Island.

[The President has issued an order directing that the Russian armed transport Lena be taken in custody by the United States naval authorities. It prescribes that after being disarmed and repaired the captain of the Lena be required to give a written guarantee that the Lena shall not leave San Francisco, without the consent of the United States government. The officers and crew are to be paroled not to leave San Francisco. The commandant of the Mare Island navy yard will have charge of the vessel till the end of the war and such repairs ordered to make her seaworthy and preserve her during her detention. This action is taken on the written request of the commander of the Lena.]

Japs Pressing Northward.

Mukden, Sept. 20.—The Japanese are slowly advancing. Fighting is anticipated in the neighborhood of Simuntun, forty-five miles northwest of Mukden. The Russians have recovered their spirits. Chinese are suspected of aiding the Japanese.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 20.—It is rumored that officers of the Guard regiments stationed here have been ordered to the front.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 21.—General Kuropatkin reports that the Japanese forces were repulsed at Da Pass. General Oyama is trying to flank Kuropatkin from the East.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 22.—The Japanese are continuing their unsuccessful attempts to turn the Russian left. Oyama's advance is thirty miles south of Fushan, where a fight is expected.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 23.—The Japanese have assumed the offensive twelve miles from Mukden.

Tokio, Sept. 24.—The Japanese have captured Tai Ling and Sanungku, sixty miles northeast of Liaoyang. The Russians left nineteen dead on the field.

Attack Centered on Port Arthur.

Tokio, Sept. 20.—The Russian forces made a sortie from Port Arthur on the 18th, attacking Itzshan Hill, and were repulsed with heavy loss. Tokio, Japan, Sept. 22.—It is believed that the Japanese have captured the fort west of Itzshan heights and overlooking Port Arthur.

Mukden, Sept. 22.—Marshal Oyama has detached a considerable force for service against Port Arthur. The weather is colder here. Many Chinese are leaving.

Tsing Tan, Sept. 24.—Cholera has broken out at Port Arthur.

Paris, Sept. 24.—It is reported here that a general assault upon Port Arthur from three sides has begun. Russian mines placed outside of the fortifications have destroyed an entire battalion of Japanese. Admiral Togo of the Japanese fleet is aiding in the assault. There is a fierce bombardment.

Fatal Car Accident.

Melrose, Mass., Sept. 21.—A street car struck a box of dynamite yesterday which had fallen from a wagon and was blown to pieces. There were nine killed and nineteen injured by the explosion, which was terrific.

Next Meeting of Odd Fellows.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 19.—The Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows convened here today.

San Francisco, Sept. 22.—The Odd Fellows have reconsidered their decision to hold their next annual convention in Philadelphia and will meet instead at Washington.

San Francisco, Sept. 22.—The parade of Odd Fellows was held today. There were 8,000 men in line.

Denver, Col., Sept. 22.—The Democrats in the State convention held today nominated Alva Adams for Governor.

The Death Harvest at Liaoyang.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 22.—The revised list of Russian casualties in the battle of Liaoyang is 181 killed, 10,811 wounded and 1212 left on field.

[The retreat and battle around Liaoyang will go down in history as one of the "decisive" battles of the world. It was here that Kuropatkin hoped to be able to resist the Japanese advance, and reported to the war office at St. Petersburg: "Having retreated to our main position after heavy losses will be able to maintain it against an enemy numerically superior." In the preliminary skirmishes the Russian forces were distributed in the form of a great semi-circle, about thirty miles long, with Liaoyang as its center. Kuroki, commanding the Japanese right wing, engaged the Russian left at An Ping, and about the same time the Japanese center and left came in collision with the Russian main force. Here the fighting continued for three days, the Japanese losing about 2000 and the Russians about 3000. On Sunday morning Kuropatkin concentrated his forces into a smaller semi-circle, about seven miles long. Then began the dogged retreat of Kuropatkin. The Japanese hurled themselves against the Russian center, to be repulsed by bayonet charges. At one point they were repulsed six times with serious loss. The incessant roar of artillery was deafening. Each army had from 600 to 1000 field guns, which searched the field with shell and shrapnel. Kuropatkin repulsed the enemy at every attack by reason of being able to quickly mass his troops at a given point. The Russians feigned retreat and led the Japanese into pitfalls dug among the high Chinese corn, concealing sharp-pointed stakes, upon which they fell and were impaled. The battle waged from dawn until night Wednesday, when Kuropatkin withdrew further northward, abandoning Liaoyang and continuing a harrassed retreat to Mukden, from which point reports indicate he expects to proceed further northward.]

Liaoyang the Bloodiest Battle Recorded.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 20.—The battle of Liaoyang, which began with the Japanese advance on August 24th, and concluded on September 3d with the retreat of General Kuropatkin, is believed to have been the longest and the bloodiest of history. Both sides repeatedly came to hand-to-hand encounters in bayonet charges, and the men were often so near one another that they could distinguish features and hear words of command. In one instance they were separated only by the width of the railway, and actually threw stones at one another. The mad heroism of the Japanese and the stubborn tenacity of the Russians have not been paralleled anywhere save in some of the desperate encounters of the American Civil War. The Japanese came on with empty guns and with hopes of finishing the attack with cold steel, but it was proved at their own cost that such an attack could not be driven home in the face of the fire of breech loading guns. During the ten days' fighting the condition of the soldiers of both armies was pitiable. Many of the Japanese prisoners were starving and almost naked when captured, which speaks volumes for Japanese endurance. The Russians were better fed, being nearer their own base, but the terrible strain of the continuous fighting caused some of them to fall asleep in the midst of the cannonade and even on the firing line.

St. Petersburg, Russia, Sept. 20.—The new cruiser Izamrud, of twenty-four knots, will join the second Pacific squadron.

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 19.—Admiral Goodrich's squadron has arrived here.

Shanghai, Sept. 20.—It is rumored that General Mistchenko was killed in an attack northeast of Yantai, where the Russians were repulsed with great loss.

Halifax, Nova Scotia, Sept. 20.—A fire on the docks last night did $200,000 worth of damage.

Rome, Sept. 20.—The strike situation of the Italian Socialists is improving. From the aggressive conduct of the Socialists there were fears of a rebellion in Northern Italy.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 21.—The Grand Duke Sergius has been appointed Inspector General of Artillery in the Russian army.

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—T. B. Cornwell is dead.
